Cultivating the Black Walnut.

The attention of the public is being called to the increasing demand and decreasing supply of that valuable timber, black walnut, and farmers in localities where this growth is indigenous to the soil are being urged to plant and cultivate it.

Mr. W. H. Ragan, Secretary of the Indiana Horticultural Society, in a paper read before the annual convention, gave, among other arguments in favor of black walnut, the following: "It is a worthy variety for artificial groves and timber-belts; it is comparatively free from the attacks of depredate insects; it grows rapidly and bears nuts at an early age, and it stands without a peer for furniture and interior decorations."

Regarding the planting and culture of the black walnut, Mr. Ragan said: "Prepare your ground by breaking and harrowing in the fall. Furrow it off each way as you would for corn, except that the rows should be about seven feet apart. Take the nuts fresh from the trees, it is not necessary that they should be hulled, placing two nuts in each crossing. This is to insure getting a good stand. The nuts should be covered very shallow, just enough earth to hide them. In the spring the land should be furrowed off midway between the rows of nuts, and the spaces planted with corn or potatoes. Cultivate as you would a corn crop, by cross plowing, being careful to give the young trees a fair chance and good clean culture. The second spring thin out your plants to one tree to the hill. If there are spaces entirely missing they may be filled by transplanting from the hills containing duplicates. The second and perhaps the third year it will pay to cultivate corn between the rows, after which the trees should be regularly cultivated until they fully occupy the ground so as to keep down by their shade all weeds and grass.

"The period at which cultivation may be discontinued can not be definitely stated, as much will depend on the character of the seasons and quality of the soil. Of course seven feet each way will be too close for permanent trees, but as they will protect each other when small and make much better growth it is preferable to have them closely planted. When they begin to crowd, the alternate tree in each row may be removed. The trees thus removed will be of sufficient size to be useful in various ways on the farm. A second thinning will in a few years be necessary, taking the alternate tree the other way. Your permanent trees will now stand fourteen feet apart each way, a sufficient distance for a number of years, though not for large trees, but the thinnings will always pay a large per cent. on the value of the ground occupied." —N. Y. World.

—Mr. Corliss, of Wade Plantation, Me., an old gentleman, seventy-five years of age, hunted down and shot a bear recently in Perham, whose skin measured seven and a half feet from snout to tail, six and a half feet across the shoulders and hips, and five and a half feet across the narrowest part, and whose carcass was larger than a good-sized two-year-old heifer. Mr. Corliss has hunted bears ever since he was seventeen years of age, and has killed over a hundred.

—Why, my dear," said poor little Mr. Penhecker, with a ghastly smile, "why would the world without woman, lovely woman, be like a blank sheet of paper?" Mrs. P., who has just been giving the little man "a piece of her mind," smiled, and "couldn't think." "Why, because, don't you see, love," said the long-suffering one, "it wouldn't even be ruled."

Children's Best Food.

"What are the greatest desiderata in taking care of children in the summer?" "Plenty of fresh air—these river and harbor excursions are splendid—early hours and proper food."

"What is the best food for children?" "Milk and cereals, bread, oatmeal, corn meal and cracked wheat are the best food. Poor people often give their children corned beef and cabbage when they are only two or three years old. That is simply frightful."

"Are not veal and pork almost equally indigestible for children?" "They are very trying, indeed, to their digestion; beef, mutton and fowl are by far more nutritious and easily digested."

"How as to fruit, green apples and the like?"

"Fruit, if it is ripe, is healthy, but green apples are to be avoided; they often produce cholera infantum."

"And our national, omnipresent pie, Professor?"

"That is the very worst of all. Pie of any sort is bad because the crust is so indigestible, but mince pie and lemon pie especially are diabolical."

"And candy?"

"Candy eaten in moderate quantities is not bad if taken after meals. The trouble about candy eating by children is that it generally takes away their appetites for wholesome, strengthening food. There is stamina, of course, in sugar; it is simply a heating food, and won't make brain or muscle." —Prof. Chandler, in N. Y. Herald.

Eggs.

Few persons who eat eggs have any idea of the extent of the traffic in these succulent breakfast delicacies. The increase of the egg trade and its development as one of the industries of the country are really remarkable. A journal that has instituted careful inquiries regarding the matter asserts that the business of supplying consumers in this city alone now amounts to $18,000,000 per annum. Throughout the Union there are eaten $75,000,000 worth of eggs each year. The improvements achieved in imparting permanence to that freshness which is one of the essential attributes of the egg to make it marketable are certainly ingenious. The recently-invented process of crystallization is one of the most curious methods of guarding against this blight of tastelessness. By its agency the natural egg is changed into an amber-hued vitreous substance, which, while reduced in bulk, has imparted to it the property of remaining in edible condition for years and resisting the deteriorating effects of climate. What is more singular than this is that when thus treated the eggs can be transported to any place without injury, and can afterward be restored to their original condition when desirable by adding the water which has been artificially removed from the shell. This simple process is called "desiccation," and the principal companies engaged in thus preparing eggs are situated in this city and St. Louis. It is said that neither salt nor extraneous matter is employed in producing "desiccation." The egg is merely reduced, by the removal of the water, to a consolidated mass of yolk and albumen. Eggs are also preserved by the process of "liming," and thus preserved they may be utilized for every purpose except that of boiling. It is a custom of some unscrupulous dealers to palm these "limed" eggs off on purchasers as "fresh country eggs," and it can be done with ease and success. In the "desiccating" process such fraud is impossible, for the very sufficient reason that an egg that is tainted, even though it be ever so slightly, can not be crystallized at all.—New York Times.

MISMANAGEMENT always results in crime, general demoralization of the people and deadening of the public sense of right. The mismanagement of the English rulers in Ireland and the mismanagement of the Republican rulers in America are as notable instances of the fact in modern as any that can be found in ancient history. In Ireland it has rendered the people so desperate that some of them are losing their natural detestation of the murderous methods now daily reported by telegraph. And we all know how gently we have come to deal with official thieves in this country since Republican administrations have made them so numerous and "respectable."

The following important railroad information is printed in the Cincinnati Commercial of the 23d inst: The Cincinnati and Eastern road is again on the boom. A syndicate has been formed which will put the road in good shape, and place it beyond the danger line, as it were. The syndicate will issue bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 at 6 per cent, the proceeds of which will be used in taking up the $500,000 sevens first mortgage and $300,000 sevens second mortgage bonds. The remainder of the new issue will be used in completing the road to Portsmouth, or beyond to Gallipolis. There are twenty-nine miles yet to build before Portsmouth is reached. The distance from Portsmouth to Gallipolis is fifty-four miles. The road will be made standard gauge at once. The members of the syndicate are: President McGill, General Manager Woodward, General Superintendent Wilber, and other heavy holders of the Cincinnati and Eastern, who will be joined by E. W. Woodward and W. H. Clements; also by the principal holders of Chattanooga securities, which will induce Mr. John Carlisle and Geo. Hafer to enter the syndicate. It is the intention to ultimately consolidate the Cincinnati and Eastern with the Chattanooga road, and extend the latter to the great ore-beds of North Carolina, and to a connection with the Norfolk and Western, which will give Cincinnati another deep-water connection. The stocks and bonds of the Cincinnati and Eastern will be sold in blocks, with a percentum of stocks as a bonus.

To save Buck Mountain and Mammoth veins, at Shenandoah, Pa., from a culm bank fire, it is estimated that 300,000 cubic yards of material will have to be removed.

An outbreak is feared of the miners who are on a strike at Uniontown, Pa. A Molly Maguire was shot and killed by the Superintendent of the Youngstown Coke Company.

It is mentioned as an interesting detail of the recent grand costume ball at Berlin that 10,200 wax candles, or 1,700 pounds of wax, were burned in the various chandeliers throughout the castle.

Chicago has 5,000 bars, or one to 120 inhabitants, while there are not much more than twice that number of stores for the supply of food. Fifteen blocks, covering three-tenths of a square mile, contain 225 doggeries.

A party of Americans from the Providence Mine, Sonora, were attacked by Mexican rustlers in camp. One American was wounded and the others retreated, being outnumbered. The loss of the Mexicans is unknown.

The Speaker of the British House of Commons, begins his Parliamentary dinners with the Cabinet always, and gradually gets through the whole House. These banquets must cost him at least $5,000. His salary is $25,000, with a splendid furnished abode adjoining the House. The Lord Chancellor, though Speaker of the Lords, does not officially feed them.

A movement anticipatory of the battle of Dorking took place in England by the combined forces of Shorncliffe, Dover and Canterbury, upon the approach roads to Dover. The purpose was to test the practicability of protecting the mouth of the Channel Tunnel from invasion, and every manoeuvre had that result for its object. This demonstration will form a very important portion of the evidence to be given before the select committee on the tunnel scheme. The opinion of the officers at the conclusion of the strategic work was inimical to the tunnel.

The London Medical Press and Circular says: "In Abyssinia it was found that after a time the soldiers were unable to digest the coarse and imperfectly cooked rations issued to them, and that their strength was rapidly giving away, but with an allowance of spirits all this became changed. In other words, the military efficiency was maintained on that occasion by rum. It is on record, also, that during the Ashantee campaign a taste of navy rum helped a favored regiment on an occasion when many would have broken down completely. It is the abuse, not the use, of strong drinks in the army that is to be condemned."

The International Literary Association announces that a covention of authors of all nations will be held in Amsterdam in September of this year, at the same time with the world's fair that is then to take place in that city. The association also offers prizes for the best essays upon "Holland and Freedom of Thought and Utterance in Europe in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries." The essays are not to exceed in length 1,000 to 1,200 lines of forty letters each, and French will be preferred as the language to be used. They may, however, be written in other languages, but such as win prizes will be translated into French at the expense of the association before they are printed. The first prize is to be a medal of silver, gold plated. The other prizes are to be medals of bronze. Authors of every nation may compete.

HAS been used with most gratifying success in many obstinate cases. Prof. F. W. Those who desire to try this famous water are referred to Captain C. W. Boyd, Leavenworth, Ohio; Captain C. M. Holloway, Cincinnati, Ohio; J. J. Raife, Cincinnati, Ohio. SATURDAY EVE., MARCH 24, 1883.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

ON Monday next, we're pleased to say,
The DAILY BULLETIN,
A new departure's going to take,
And it is going to win,
The price the very same will be,
And advertising low,
And as regards the current news,
You bet, it won't be slow.

FLEMINGSBURG is moving to organize a building association.

MR. W. H. OVERLEY's house near Flemingsburg, was destroyed by fire a few days ago.

OTHER important business changes may be looked for in Maysville in the next two or three weeks.

Mt. STERLING proposes to give $20,000 as an inducement toward the establishment of the Episcopal High School there.

THE late Moses Dimmitt, of this county, at the time of his death had a life policy for $2,000 in the New York Life Company. A check for that amount has been received by his widow.

ARRANGEMENTS for the right of way over the Mt. Carmel turnpike in Chester, for the street railway, we are reliably informed, will be made on satisfactory terms, an item of information the people of Maysville will be glad to learn.

WITH the coming of spring the winter's accumulation of garbage and impurities generally should be removed in season. Disinfect cellars and other places. The neglect of such cleansing and disinfecting may breed sickness.

TILMAN CRAFT, a brother of Ellis Craft and a lawyer named Burns, have arrested in West Virginia, a negro who is charged with having committed the murder of the Gibbons children. The evidence the arresting party claim to have against the negro has not been made public as yet.

We take pleasure in calling attention to the ball to be given next Monday evening at Washington Hall by the German Relief Society of this city. This association is doing a great deal of good in the community and is seldom before the public for favors. This time we trust a generous people will give their entertainment a liberal patronage.

THE stock subscription of $20,000, necessary to be raised in Maysville, for the street railway, we are pleased to learn will be no impediment to the success of the enterprise, as the company have assurances that the amount will be promptly subscribed at the proper time. There seems now to be nothing whatever in the way of the successful inauguration of the enterprise.

Scandal at Quincy.

The neighborhood of Quincy, Lewis county, is rocked from center to circumference by a scandal which involves some of the best people of the community. John Evans, who lives near Quincy, has brought suit for divorce against his wife Louisa Evans, and also against Dr. J. W. Berry, a prominent and wealthy physician of Quincy, for $10,000, alleging that Berry had alienated the wife's affection and had maintained improper relations with her. Mrs. Evans is the daughter of one of the wealthiest farmers in that section, and is young and handsome. Dr. Berry is fifty years of age and has a family. Both cases will be vigorously defended.

To the Public.

The DAILY BULLETIN, beginning on Monday, will be enlarged to a five column paper. In addition to this the publishers have arranged to receive telegraphic reports of all occurrences of interest transpiring in any part of the country, which will be laid before the public several hours in advance of the Cincinnati papers. There will be a full telegraphic market report from all the leading business centers of the United States which will be prepared by an experienced and able reporter and may be relied upon as absolutely correct. While this enterprise will require the expenditure of many hundreds of dollars there will be no increase of the subscription price, and no advance in our present low rates for advertising, which we take this opportunity to say are less than the rates of any other journal in the city. It is the desire of the publishers to furnish a daily newspaper that will be a credit to the city, and to do this they ask, and may reasonably expect, the liberal co-operation of all who have public spirit enough to appreciate the benefit a live, enterprising daily journal will be to the business and private interests of Maysville.

Religious.

The usual Easter services will be held at St. Patrick's Church to-morrow.

Rev. J. K. Pace will preach at the Baptist Church to-morrow at the usual hours.

The Methodist meeting at Stone church on Lawrence Creek will likely continue through the week.

Sunday School in the Chester M. E. Church, South, to-morrow at 3 p. m., and preaching by Rev. L. S. Pollitt at 7 p. m.

Services will be held at the Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning and evening by Rev. S. B. Alderson, the pastor.

Rev. John Barbour will preach at the Presbyterian Church to-morrow. Those persons who united with the Presbyterian Church during the week will be publicly received at the evening service.

Services will be held as usual at the M. E. Church, South, to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. After the service candidates for membership will be received into the church. Subject for evening: "The Parable of the Prodigal Son."

Rev. A. N. Gilbert will begin a series of popular lectures at the Christian Church on next Sunday night, to young men and women. The first will be a repetition of the lecture to young men entitled, "Purpose the True Test of Noble Manhood," given here last December. The second, to be given the first Sunday in April, will be to young ladies, entitled, "What can a Young Lady do?" Seats all free and the public, especially the young, are cordially invited. Mr. Gilbert will also preach every Sunday morning until further notice.

This week children will be thinking about preparing what in old times used to be called paas eggs. To dye eggs, onion skins put in water in which they are boiled will make them a bright yellow; or, if left longer in the solution, a rich brown. Logwood or violet ink gives a royal purple. Cochineal, and crimson, and many pieces of chintz or bright calico that fade easily, if sewed tightly around the eggs, will color them nicely in figures, stripes or dots.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

A little son of Mr. Joseph Perrie, we regret to announce, is very sick.

Mr. Samuel Ellis, ex-sheriff of Lewis county, has been prostrated by paralysis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans, of Keokuk, Iowa, are the guest of the family of Mr. James Smith.

A telegram received yesterday from Mr. Joseph Varian at Winchester, Ohio, announced the dangerous illness of his wife.

Mr. L. B. Armstrong, inventor and manufacturer of Armstrong's Elastic Roof Paint, whose headquarters are in this city, will go next week to Dover, Augusta, Ripley and Georgetown, Ohio, to introduce this famous paint at those places.

SINCE Representative Ochiltree cannot get his salary for his services in Congress, because he is short $12,000 on account of his former official relations with the Government, the fact has been developed that a large number of prominent Republican statesmen are in the same fix. Among these is the President, who is behind $8,436.88 as Collector of the port of New York, the office from which Hayes and John Sherman removed him "in order that it might be honestly administered." But as Mr. A. has, notwithstanding, drawn his salary regularly, Ochiltree insists that the line should not be drawn on him.

Boston was threatened with rival fairs, but the two are to be given with more amity than was expected. The other, promoted by the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' Association, will be restricted to foreign things. The managers have so far secured the countenance of the National Government that our diplomatic representatives abroad have been instructed to call attention to the matter and to furnish intending exhibitors with all needed information. Goods will be admitted to remain in bond free of duty while on exhibition, and at the close they may be sold upon payment of tariff charges.

THE WILD MAN OF CAMAS.

Killing of a Strange and Dreaded Creature in Idaho.

Bellevue Sunn.

The celebrated wild man of the Camas prairie was killed recently by some parties traveling through the prairie. While the travelers were camped in the foot-hills on the edge of the prairie one of them, named Micklehaney went a few hundred yards from camp to kill some ducks, taking with him a shotgun loaded with large shot. When only a couple of hundred yards from camp the "Wild Man of Camas" jumped up from his hiding place, and, after running a short distance, stopped and looked at Micklehaney through his large, clear eyes a moment, then, with a shriek that struck terror to the hunter, and caused him to shudder as the echo resounded through the forest the man, with the ferocity of a savage beast of the jungle, made for Micklehaney so fiercely that in order to insure his own safety he emptied both barrels of the gun into him, when he fell, apparently dead. Micklehaney went to him, when the strange being began to revive, and he put his foot on the man's neck and called to his comrades to bring an ax, which they did with all possible haste. The man escaped just as they arrived, and with a pitiful moan regained his feet and started to run. The ax was thrown at him, and as he turned his head to look back it struck him in the center of the forehead and he dropped lifeless to the ground.

On examination he was found to be rather tall, with full, clear eyes, and an extraordinarily large head; appeared to be about forty-five years of age, although not a gray hair could be seen. The wavy black hair of his head hung low down, onto his body, and his bushy beard was about two and a half feet long. The body was also covered with a thick growth of hair about two inches in length. This was also black and very fine. The finger and toe nails were two inches long, and resembled claws more than nails. He was wrapped in a long robe made of rabbit skins. The skins were sewed together by sinews. On examining the place from which he made his appearance it was found that he had a very comfortable bed which was made of the soft bark of sage brush. It was under an over-hanging rock, and well protected from the wind. Near the bed were two rabbits which had most likely been killed by stones.

About ten years ago an insane stage driver left Boise City and has never since been heard of. The "Wild Man of Camas" may be the same, having taken up his abode in the then desolate prairie, but seldom visited by whites. The "Wild man of Camas, has, since first seen in 1873, been dreaded by the lonely traveler and prospector, who will be relieved to know that he is dead.

A fool-hardy sailor, who put to sea from San Francisco August 19, in an 18-foot dory, for Australia, was picked up by a coaster off Queensland, in an exhausted condition. He had lost his instruments and provisions by the capsizing of his boat.

The French Ministry of Marine are having forty-six vessels constructed at the present moment, thirty one in the Government dock-yards and fifteen by private firms. Fourteen of these vessels are ironclads, representing a value of 126,000,000 francs. Two, the Admiral Bandin and the Formidable, will cost 11,500,000 francs each. Eight others will cost each more than three-quarters of that sum.

The same jealousy and ill feeling exists between native and foreign laborers in Germany as in other countries. A number of Italian workmen have been employed upon buildings in the neighborhood of Cologne. One evening while they were in their quarters occupied with preparations for supper a large number of native laborers entered the place, uncovered the kettles, and spat in the food. A fight resulted in which the Italians were badly injured. The Germans used knives and axes, crushed the skull of one of the Italians, mangled the leg of another so that it had to be amputated, and inflicted severe injuries upon the rest. The Italian workmen who were thus maltreated are described as industrious, sober and frugal, and were in the habit of sending regular remittances from their small earnings to their families at home.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mr. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur Ohio Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The VIGOR is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated "Fairhair Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1882: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procreath, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."
